PRESCOTT A T April 5—Fifty seven more Apaches were killed. Following are the particulars. On the 10th of March the Swain J McDonald and George Taylor were slaughtered by a large band of Apaches. Within twenty days after the murders were committed 70 warriors, composing a band, two hundred and fifty men and children, had surrendered at Fort Whipple. Lieutenant Rice from Camp Date creek had received at Fort Whipple Lieutenant Rice had a number of Apache and Mojave Indians from Date Creek Reservation, and Dan O Leary and Sam Bell as guides and trailers, and went to the scene of the massacre. They followed the trail of the Red skins until they came on the trail of the Mohonal party who were on the war trail. Lieutenant Rice procured sufficient evidence to make it certain that young Taylor was captured alive and subjected to most horrible torture. The Apaches and Mojaves with Lieutenant Rice declared that the Indians who committed the outrage were Pinals. After striking the trail of the McDonald party, Rice turned toward Prescott and arrived at Fort Whipple on Saturday last, having followed the trail from Hassayampa creek toward the Tonto basin, across the Agua Fria, and returning to Fort Whipple by Humbug creek. An express arrived at Whipple on Sunday morning, stating that he had killed 47 warriors and captured squaws. The news was received in Prescott about sundown, and the rejoicing was general. ## FARMERS' CONVENTION.

First Annual Meeting of the Farmers of Oregon.

Second Day

AFTERNOON SESSION.

SALEM, April 11th, 1873.

The Convention was called to order at 1 30 P. M.

The President announced that he had received a communication from W. H Odell of Eugene City, which would be laid before the Convention. The letter, which conveyed Mr. Odell's regrets at being unable to attend the session, and his best wishes for its success, was read.

Mr. T. L. Davidson moved that a committee of three be appointed, whose duty it shall be to consider and report upon the organization of a State Board. Mr. Davidson supported his motion in a few well-timed remarks on the necessity of having a strong central organization.

Mr. Minto opposed the motion. He thought that the Convention was not yet ready to take this step. It had appointed a committee to consider this question of form of organization, and that committee were now consulting on the subject.

The motion was discussed by a number of gentlemen, but was finally lost.

Mr Moore moved that S. A. Clarke, Esq., be invited to address the Convention. Carried.

Mr Clarke having been introduced, gave a brief, but interesting sketch of prominent events in his recent visit to the Eastern States, interspersing his remarks with humorous anecdotes and witty allusions. The address was entertaining, and was listened to throughout with the greatest attention.

Mr Davenport presented the following

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CONSTITUTION AND BY LAWS

Your Committee would beg leave to report that we are unable to unite upon any plan of permanent organization and would recommend that the present organization of the Convention be continued after adjournment to a definite time and that there be appointed the following committees, viz:

One upon Constitution, which shall report at the next meeting of the Convention.

One upon Commerce, Foreign Freights and Markets, Wharfage, etc.

One upon Internal Transportation Freights, etc., and one upon Domestic Manufactures; which committees are requested to gather accurate and useful information with regard to costs and conditions connected with the subjects committed to them for investigation, and that they report by the Secretary, through the Willamette Farmer, as soon as practicable.

O P CRAWFORD,
Chairman of the Committee.

Mr. Upton moved to lay the report on the table, and to appoint another committee.

Mr Minto said that the Convention had appointed the committee which presented this report from among its best members. He thought no better committee could be secured, and that this committee had performed its duties faithfully. It would be but a waste of time, he said, to put the task of forming a Constitution into the hands of other men who were no better qualified, neither any better prepared to construct a form of government for the Convention. He hoped that the report of the committee would be adopted.

Mr Watts rose to speak, when Mr. Upton claimed the floor. Both gentlemen, however, gave way to Mr Ruble, who read a document purporting to be from a minority of the Committee. In submitting his draft of a Constitution, Mr Ruble remarked that the Committee on Constitution had invited him to attend their sessions and express his views on the form of organization to be adopted. He had accepted this invitation, and had submitted to the committee the paper he had just read. He knew it was crude and imperfect, but he hoped the Convention could so alter and amend that it could be made available for their purposes. In its present incomplete form he himself was not satisfied with it.

Mr Upton withdrew his motion to lay on the table, and moved to adopt the minority report.

Mr. Minto moved to adopt the majority report, and proceed to the election of the committees named therein.

Mr Hartless said that the members of the Committee were unanimous in making the report which had been read, and that it was the only course they could pursue.

Mr Davenport said he was surprised to hear a minority report. The committee at their first session had found that it was impossible to agree on any practicable plan of permanent organization. Mr Ruble who had studied these matters closely, was invited to attend the sittings of the committee, but Mr Ruble confessed in the committee room that he was not satisfied with his own scheme. Every delegate he said, seemed to have some crude idea on the matter of forming a constitution, but among the committee they had found it practically impossible so to reconcile their differences of opinion as to be able to render a constitution which they could recommend. The diversity of opinion reminded him forcibly of an anecdote about a preacher who announced that he would preach from a very interesting text and would treat of his subject under three heads, viz.—He would speak of what his audience knew, 2d—What he knew, and 3d—What neither of them know anything about. [Laughter.] He thought this Convention was discussing under the third head—what none of the delegates knew anything about. [Laughter.]

The motion to adopt the report was carried.

The Chair said he would be pleased to have the Convention suggest the names of persons to be placed on the various committees named.

The committees, as appointed, are as follows:

Committee on Constitution—T W. Davenport, Wm Ruble and Jesse Stamp.

Committee on Commerce—Joseph Watt, T B Powers, P Hartless, John Minto and J. H Baker.

Internal Transportation—John H. Smith, Daniel Clarke, H H Hewitt, W. C. Brown, Philip Lowe.

Domestic Manufactures—Crawford, Kelly, Townsend, Moore and Finlayson.

T. L Davidson moved that when the Convention adjourned it adjourn to meet on Tuesday, October 9th, during the State Fair week, on the grounds of the State Agricultural Society.

Mr Currey did not like the idea of levying a tax of $1 50 on every member of the Convention. Some of the Delegates might wish to attend the State Fair, while others might not. There should be no compulsion in the matter.

Some gentleman asked what accommodations could be found on the Fair Grounds for holding such a meeting.

Mr. Daniel Clarke replied that the Agricultural Society would gladly tender the use of the large pavilion on the grounds.

Mr Geer thought the time named was very unfavorable. He said that it was an impossibility to secure the attendance of a quorum at the business meetings of the Agricultural Society held during the Fair week. He thought some month other than October would be more suitable.

Mr. Davidson said that the cause of this Convention ought to be dear to every farmer. Mr. Moore had said that every farmer is a born member of the State Agricultural Society. He thought that no farmer would think of coming to Salem during the Fair week without attending the exhibition on the grounds of that Society, and that Mr. Currey's objection was scarcely reasonable.

Mr. Moore moved to amend the motion by saying "the second Tuesday in June," instead of "Tuesday, Oct 9th." The amendment was supported by Messrs. Minto, Moore, and others, and the motion to amend prevailed.

Jos. Watt, of Yamhill, was called on to address the Convention on the subject of a Farmers' Shipowning Corporation.

Mr Watt said that such a company had been formed in his county. It was a joint stock corporation with a capital stock of $1,000,000 divided into 1,000 shares at $1,000 each. The business in which this Company proposed to engage was that of transportation of freights on the high seas.

Mr Watt, in answer to inquiries, said that he had in former years been engaged in the transportation of grains to European markets. He loaded the first ship direct for Liverpool that was ever sent from Oregon. He believed that the corporation which was proposed in the paper he had read, could be made to pay. Already several sea Captains had offered to take one-fourth of each ship and serve as commanders of the vessels, on a salary.

Mr. Watt related his experience as a shipper to Liverpool. He obtained but 75 cents per bushel from agents in New York, as an advance on the cargo. He paid about 65 cents per bushel here in Oregon. When the vessel arrived in Liverpool, the agent examined the full, plump grains, concluded that grain of that size must be damaged, and sold it at a greatly reduced rate! It is hardly necessary to say that that shipment was a loss to me.

Mr Watt offered some valuable suggestions as to the method to be adopted in carrying out the intentions of the proposed corporations. His remarks were listened to with the closest attention throughout.

It was moved that at 4 P. M. the Convention visit the State Penitentiary. Carried.

Mr. introduced the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That this Convention recommend that the farmers of each precinct in this State organize into clubs and report the names of their officers to the Secretary of this Convention immediately after their organization, and that each precinct organization not represented in this Convention, be entitled to one delegate at the next meeting of this Convention.

Mr. John H. Smith offered a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of three, whose duty it should be to prepare a suitable address to the farmers of Oregon, setting forth the objects and purposes of the Convention, and publish the same in the columns of the Willamette Farmer. The resolution was adopted, and Messrs. J. H. Smith, T. W. Davenport and T. E Edwards were appointed such committee.

Geo B Currey introduced the following resolution which was adopted:

Resolved That the mechanics of Oregon are hereby invited to co operate with the farmers in the redress of our mutual grievances.

Mr. Wm Galloway offered a resolution requesting the Willamette Farmer to publish the proceedings of the Convention.

Mr. S A. Clarke, editor of the Farmer, stated that the Farmer would publish a full and complete report of the proceedings.

The resolution was indefinitely postponed.

John H. Smith offered the following, which was unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention be returned to the officers of this Convention for the able manner in which they have discharged their several duties.

The President returned his thanks and congratulations to the delegates for their uniform courtesy, the excellent order preserved, and the harmony of feeling and brotherly kindness which characterized all their deliberations, and then, at 4 15 P M, the President declared the Farmers' Convention adjourned till one o'clock P. M of the second Tuesday in June.

The Vancouver Register says: This week closes the present term of the district school. Under the excellent management of Mr. J. S. Taylor, its accomplished and gentlemanly principal, and the very estimable assistant, Miss Irene Clark, our school has taken a high rank among those of our Territory, also of Oregon, and the thanks of the general public are due to the teachers for the energy and fidelity with which they have discharged their duties.

Among the passengers of the ill-fated steamer City of Boston, which went down with all on board so many months ago, was the only son of a widow now living in Detroit, who has never lost her faith that he will yet return. She has subscribed for a Boston paper solely for the reason that she imagines that the press of the city for which the steamer was named will first receive news concerning her, and as regularly as the paper comes, she reads it all carefully, in hope that her son's fate may be explained. His plate is always laid at the table, and to friends who call the fond, hopeful mother says "I have not heard from Willie yet, but I hope to get news this week.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

EASTERN DATES TO APRIL 13.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Cuban Question

NEW YORK April 12—The Post's Washington special says a report has been in circulation lately that the Cuban question has assumed a new phase, and that the Administration would probably inaugurate a new policy in its treatment of that matter. Inquiry to-day in quarters well informed, leaves no doubt as to the incorrectness of such statement, and that all information in possession of the Government shows that with the permanent establishment of the Spanish Republic there will probably be less cause for complaints as to the administration of affairs in Cuba than has heretofore existed. Pending the election occurring soon in Spain for members of Constituent Assembly our Government is not likely to embarrass the present Ministry with any question relating to Cuba. If the people at the election sustain the Republic it is believed Spain will pursue a new policy.

The Bohemian in Duress

The State Department will not interfere, except possibly by exerting its good offices to secure the release of O'Kelly, the Herald's Cuban correspondent, who was recently arrested at Manzanillo, when returning from the rebel lines. Gen. Sickles, because he is not an American citizen, because he deliberately subjected himself to arrest, by violating a well settled law. He asked permission of the authorities to visit the Insurgent camp, and being refused, proceeded there at his own risk. Though warned by the Spanish that if captured, after visiting the Insurgents, he would be liable to be shot as a spy, it is believed that the authorities will not proceed to such extremities, but will hold him as close prisoner till the fleets in his possession become too old to be of any use.

News at the Capital.

WASHINGTON, April 12—The report of the serious illness of the President last evening was incorrect. He was in his usual health to-day and transacted business. He has not been sick recently.

Rumors have been repeated from time to time of the receipt of the resignations of Ministers Low and DeLong. Inquiry at official quarters to-day shows that Low's resignation has not been received, and that ex-Senator Colfax's name has not even been mentioned by the President in connection with the China or Japan mission. No one at the President's house or at the Department of State had any intimation of DeLong's rumored resignation further than what has been privately said by some of his friends, namely, that he would resign should the Administration desire a change.

Lands of the N. P. R. R.

The commissioner of the general land office has notified local land officers along the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad, that the Secretary of the Interior has decided that the Northern Pacific Railroad Company is entitled to lands along the line laid down on its maps of preliminary location, as against all persons who made settlements on such lands after said preliminary map had been accepted by the Secretary of Interior, but before the lands had been formally withdrawn. This decision is adverse to several hundred claimants and involves about two hundred sections of land in Minnesota, Washington Territory and elsewhere.

EASTERN STATES.

Strike of the Gasmen.

NEW YORK, April 12—The strike of the gasmen has practically failed. There is no scarcity of light and no appreciable addition to the strikers' numbers. The excitement among mechanical trades relative to strikers, has nearly subsided.

Severe Storms

The storm to-day was one of the most severe of the year. The tide was very high, and at the ferries great difficulty was experienced in getting heavily laden trucks on and off the boats.

Cellars along the river are flooded, and in some instances, valuable merchandise damaged. A large fleet of vessels is detained.

Late Snow Storm.

BOSTON, April 12.—One of the thickest snow storms of the season has prevailed all day.

Body Recovered.

ROCHESTER, N Y., April 12.—The body of Willis Pratt, one of the victims of the recent disaster, was recovered this evening.

A diver will explore the basement to-morrow for the bodies of the others who may have been drowned.

Murder in New York.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Three men to night attacked Charles Schell of No. 451 west forty second street, in the store at sixty-second street and Tenth Avenue, and cut his throat from ear to ear. The murderers escaped.

For Europe.

The following named San Franciscans sailed for Europe to-day: Mrs. Thiele, Mrs. Hastings and maid, Miss Flora Hastings, and Miss L. Perkholes, also George F. Scheid of Vallejo.

NOVA SCOTIA.

Relics from the Sea.

HALIFAX, April 12.—Among the valuables found on the bodies of the Atlantic victims are two rings supposed to have belonged to Albert Sumner—one a signet, marked S and the other a plain one, marked "from Allen to Albert."

The New Cable.

The steamer Kangaroo to-day commenced laying the shore end of the Atlantic cable, from Cable House, at Fresh Water Point, to near Chebuto Head, where it will be buried until the arrival of the Great Eastern, which will lay the main portion of the cable.

MEXICO.

American Matters in Mexico.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Though General Sherman denies emphatically that there has been any concentration of troops on the Rio Grande to encourage the Free Zone portion of Mexico to assert its independence, with a view of American annexation, there are some who persist in believing that the story has some foundation, that Secretary Belknap's visit in that direction is for the purpose of ascertaining surely what is the disposition of the people in that portion of Mexico. In any event an attempted revolution on the border is probable, in anticipation of which, some measures will be essential for guarding American interests there, and to study which may be the real purpose of the War Secretary's journey.

UTAH.

Brigham Young's Movements.

SALT LAKE, April 12.—Brigham Young resigned the Presidencies of Utah Central and Southern Railroads today. He has now retired from all business affairs in order to go to Arizona, with mission to build the Southern Pacific Railroad in that Territory. This action has weakened faith in secular operations of the Mormons.

ARIZONA.

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—A special army correspondent in Arizona mails the following from Prescott: "April 4th. May Randall, with the Twenty-third Infantry, struck the Tontos on the east fork of the Verde, killed forty one warriors and captured a number of women and children. Propositions for surrender have been received from a large number of the worst Apaches in the Territory. Gen Crook and others have gone to Camp Verde to meet troops now coming. Great results are anticipated, and public expectation is aroused to the highest pitch."

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13—The city has been very quiet to day. The weather was pleasant, and the services of Easter were observed in all the Catholic and Episcopal Churches, the attendance at each being very large. Similar services are being held, and all the Churches are thronged.

The public excitement about the Modoc massacre is unabated, and there is great inquiry for news from the lava beds.

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—A heavy north wind has prevailed since an early hour Saturday morning, amounting almost to a gale last night. It subsided this evening. The weather is much warmer.

The epidemic has taken a new impetus in this city and vicinity. A very large number of horses are affected. No street cars are running to day and but few horses are to be seen on the streets. The attack, fortunately, is of a very mild type, and will probably abate considerably with a change of weather.

Easter services were observed to-day in the Catholic and Episcopal Churches. A large attendance at both churches.

The public excitement over the Modoc massacre is unabated, and it is the universal topic of conversation.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

Fire.

DUTCH FLAT, April 13—A fire broke out this morning in the residence of R W Blanchard, occupied by Col. Ludlum. The kitchen and all of Col Ludlum's furniture were saved. The main part of the residence was destroyed.

SONORA, April 13—Ah Bun, a Chinaman, who was to have been hung on the 25th inst for murdering Ah Mow, committed suicide in the county jail last night by hanging

MONDAY MORNING APRIL 14 1873

Gen Canby and Dr Thomas

The Peace Commission has borne its natural fruits and we are called upon to chronicle the fact that the Commissioners have been entrapped two of them murdered and the third seriously and perhaps mortally wounded by Jack and his band

At about three o'clock in the afternoon of last Saturday the following dispatch was received at the Headquarters of this Military Department, in this city

HEADQUARTERS MODOC FIELD FORCE IN CAMP SOUTH OF TULE LAKE April 11, 1873

To Assistant General Department Commander—General Canby, with the Peace Commissioners went out to meet the Indians about one mile in front of the camp, at 11 o'clock this morning At half past 1 this afternoon the signal officer whom I had watching the conference reported firing

Reaching the place of meeting I found that Gen Canby and the Rev Dr Thomas had been killed and Mr Meacham seriously If not mortally, wounded

Mr Dyar the other Commissioner escaped unhurt

I shall at once commence active operations against the Indians ALVAN C GILLEM
First Cavalry Com Expedition

The shock of this intelligence fell upon the community like a thunderbolt from a clear sky. Seldom have we witnessed such a general sorrow as this news produced in the city

Gen. Canby had been stationed at Portland for some time, and had made many warm friends Probably no man in the city commanded the respect and enjoyed the esteem and confidence of the people here to a higher degree than did he In him were united the true soldier, the cultured gentleman and the consistent christian So unostentatious was the character of Gen Canby that few persons even of those immediately around him, knew how various were the ways and how many the cases in which he dispensed charity to the poor and needy. His benevolence was of the kind that asks not the reward of praise Nearly forty years in the army, and filling at most every position during that time, he was always regarded as one of the purest and best men in the service

Gen. Canby first came to the Pacific coast as Adjutant General on the staff of Gen Persifer F Smith, who sailed from New York in the fall of 1848 in the little steamer Falcon At the Isthmus they were delayed some time awaiting the arrival of the steamer California which had come around Cape Horn to take her place on the Pacific side of the Isthmus, in the trade between New York and California, and which was the first steamer on that trade On her first voyage from Panama to San Francisco, therefore, these officers with some civilians attached to the army—our fellow citizen L. Brooks, Esq., being of the number—were among her passengers. The vessel reached Monterey, then the seat of government, in February, 1849.

General Edward R S. Canby was born in Kentucky, 1817, and in 1835 was appointed to the Military Academy at West Point from Indiana. His military history is given in Cullum's Register.

Cadet at the United States Military Academy from July 1, 1835, to July 1, 1839, when he was graduated and promoted in the army to Second Lieutenant, Second Infantry, July 1, 1839. *The national thanks were tendered by the President of the United States, September 3, 1864 to General Canby, for the "skill and harmony with which the recent operations in Mobile Harbor and against Fort Powell, Fort Gaines and Fort Morgan were planned and carried into execution."

†The thanks of the President and the War Department were presented, May 19 1865 "to General Canby and the officers and soldiers of his command for their gallantry, energy and successful military skill in the siege and reduction of the strongly fortified city of Mobile and for the achievements that have rendered their campaign one of the most brilliant and important of the war"

General Canby commanded the military district embracing North and South Carolina from September, 1867, to September, 1868 when he was called to Washington Soon afterwards he was placed in command of the Texas district Then he was called East again and placed in command in Virginia, where he remained till he was transferred to the Department of the Columbia in August, 1870.

Rev Ferguson Thomas D D the other victim of the massacre was one of the leading ministers of the Methodist denomination in California. He was regarded in all the conferences of the church as one of its safest counselors and in the language of a gentleman of this city, who had enjoyed his personal acquaintance "had always a strong influence among the strong men of the conference From a sketch of his life in yesterday's Herald we take the record of his labors:

Was the Minister in charge of the Niagara street Methodist Episcopal Church Buffalo, New York in 1849 came to California in 1851, where he was Agent of the Methodist Book Concern for a number of years edited the California Christian Advocate and at the time of his death was Presiding Elder of the Petaluma District of the California Conference He resided in Petaluma Sonoma county, where his wife and children from whom his tragical death

The School Meeting this Evening

This evening in the time designated by the school law for holding the annual meeting in this District to consider the general business of the District The reports of the Directors and Clerk for the last year will be presented together with the estimates for the ensuing year There are all matters in which the taxpayers of the District are peculiarly interested The maintenance of the schools is of such importance, from every point of view, that there should be no hesitation about voting a tax sufficient to secure that end But the extreme closeness of money matters should at the same time admonish us that the greatest economy compatible with a reasonable degree of efficiency should be exercised, and that no large expenditures for new building, should be authorized There are many ways in which the expenses of carrying on our free school system may be made unnecessarily great, and it is not impossible that, in the comparative plentifulness of money prevailing heretofore, some extravagances may have crept unobserved into the management of the finances of the District If so, now is the time to remedy the evil The tax payers have only one opportunity to act directly upon the questions in which they are so deeply concerned, and that opportunity is afforded by this annual business meeting

Ben Holladays Railroad Bonds

A few years ago, Ben. Holladay succeeded in negotiating the sale of his Oregon and California Railroad Bonds in Frankfort on the Main at the rate of 72 cents on the dollar Of this amount 12 cents was paid his Agent, Milton S Latham, the San Francisco banker, who negotiated the sale, leaving only 60 cents as a net balance to the company, with which the road was built Although, as we understand the interest accrued on these bonds, has been paid regularly, yet they have so depreciated that they are only quoted at 51½ on the Bourse in Frankfort It will pay Ben Holladay and his friends, to invest in these bonds, and by that means, obtain the permanent control of a piece of property which under other circumstances, may be considered of doubtful value The bonds of the California and Oregon Company, which is building the road from Sacramento northward, are quoted at 77 cents on the dollar, although the franchise is not considered more promising in its business prospects —Puget Sound Courier

The Courier's suggestion many persons think has been anticipated by the gentleman who manages the railway matters of this State. It has been hinted, we do not pretend to know how truthfully, that the great depreciation of the bonds of the east side road is the work of a few speculators among whom is Mr Holladay himself, and that when these bonds have been forced down to the minimum value determined upon by the operators they are to be bought in.

The suits being prepared under the direction of the Attorney General of the United States against the Union Pacific Railway Company, so far as they affect the liabilities of the stockholders, are founded upon the principle contended for by some of the lawyers of this State at the time the ten cent stock scheme of the east side road was put on foot, namely, that a subscription of stock is an obligation to pay into the funds of the company, on each share subscribed, the full amount of money expressed in the articles of incorporation as the amount of a share, and that any agreement between the corporation and the stockholder to let the latter have his shares as paid up stock without his actually paying the par value, is void so far as the creditors of the company are concerned. The Government proposes to make these holders of paid up stock certificates pay in whatever amount they lacked of paying the face value of their stock. Those who insisted that the subscribers to the ten cent scheme of A J. Cook & Co., in Oregon, and the five cent scheme of the Union Pacific, were legally liable for the other ninety or ninety five cents on every dollar of the stock, in case the company should become involved in debt, were looked upon and spoken of simply as factious persons who were opposing the railway enterprises of the country The legal department of the government now depends upon the correctness of these views for the recovery of its just dues from the corporations

A gentleman writing us from Albany says the section hands on the Oregon and California Railway have not been paid off for four months, and asks us to inquire into the financial condition of the concern and inform him and the others similarly situated, through the OREGONIAN, whether there is any danger of the Company's being permanently unable to meet its liabilities We can appreciate the anxiety of our correspondent, who is one of the sufferers by this delay, but the business he desires to intrust to us is entirely out of our line We know but little about the financial affairs of the railway Company, and that little would be of no especial advantage or comfort to those interested parties There are several responsible commercial and collection agencies in this city, besides any number of lawyers, who, we have no doubt, would be but too willing to undertake the task of ascertaining the facts our correspondent desires to know

The Chicago Tribune is reminded of the fact that an officer who had passed through nearly all the battles of the Mexican war without a scratch and died from the kick of a mule on his way homeward, by the experience of congressman Garfield, who, after storming the heights of Credit Mobilier and breasting the deadly contents of Oakes Ames memorandum book, was killed by the back salary grab—which is worse than being kicked to death by a mule

The infant son of Mr Charles Allen Perkins and the Princess Isabelle de Bourbon, neice of the ex Queen of Spain, was baptized at Paris on the 12th of March Queen Isabella and Prince Alphonse the sponsors, were represented by Count Gurowski, and the gathering of Spanish nobles and American sovereigns was very large The infant is very high toned and seemed very unhappy at the font when Perkins was held by the officiating clergyman

Beautiful Tribute

At the morning service in the First Baptist Church yesterday, Rev A R Medbury before beginning his sermon, paid the following beautiful tribute to the memory of General Canby and Rev Dr Thomas

I shall do violence to my own feelings and the feelings of this congregation if I neglected to make allusion to the afflicting Providence which ever shadows this community, and brings sorrow to all hearts Why God should have permitted the brutal murder of Brigadier General Canby and Rev Dr Thomas, we cannot now know, but we shall one day know In the death of General Canby, a nation is bereaved of one of her most tried and ever truest, and in many respects one of her noblest servants The christian soldier, ever faithful and ever magnanimous, is gone His work on earth is done and well done In this community where for a generation his lot has been cast where he has been so highly and justly respected, and so truly loved, he will be missed as only a few men beside could be missed, and how deeply one shall feel the death of a husband, none but herself and God can know But I am sure that the members of this congregation will not forget that widowed one in this time of overwhelming sorrow, when you pray, and this is an hour when prayer is put to the real test An experience of grief too mighty for highest human skill a trial in which if the soul finds permanent comfort, it must come directly from God by communion with his gracious Spirit

The death of Dr Thomas is also to be regarded as a national loss His title differed from that of the noble man with whom he fell, but in the verity of significance there was little difference beyond the fact of separate spheres of life and unfulness Both were benefactors of their race in an unusual degree, but holding different relations to that race Dr. Thomas was a grand type of the christian gentleman, and an enthusiastic soldier of the Cross Wise in counsel, faithful in friendship, fearless in duty, benevolent in heart and life, his influence as a christian and a philanthropist has been long and widely felt on this coast and throughout the land He was regarded by many as one of the pillars of strength in the Methodist denomination, and while his untimely death in the high maturity of his experience and long accumulated christian wisdom is a cause of deep sorrow to all who have any interest in the cause of Jesus, and the welfare of men we cannot be unmindful of the fact that it is an affliction that will bear with unusual weight upon our beloved brethren of another denomination, and remembering this, let us pray with them that the fall of this mighty man in their Israel may indeed be accompanied with God's sanctifying grace. And let us not forget an afflicted household and an afflicted church in California, and so let us strive while laying this inscrutable providence of God to our hearts, to commit all its issues to Him in faith, believing that God, who is Sovereign over all, can and will make this twain so suddenly called away, more mighty for good in their death than in their noble lives even, and that He will bring a blessing out of this sorrowful dispensation to every person and every interest affected by it

A Trip to Boise.

BOISE, Idaho, April 4, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I have just made a trip from Portland to this place, and thinking it might be of some interest to your readers I will detail a few incidents that occurred on the route.

I started from that place on the 17th of March, took O S. N Co.'s transportation to the Dalles, where I laid over two days. On the morning of the 19th I started from the Dalles in a two-horse buggy in company with A. C. Lindle for this place. The roads were fine, the weather favorable, and we made good time until we reached the Blue Mountains. The only thing that will attract much attention on this part of the route, is the superabundance of beef cattle, which the owners are generally anxious to dispose of, but are not satisfied with the current prices. They seem confident that the market will be better, but I think it is doubtful, for four generations, such as are in Oregon now, would hardly eat the beef that is in Wasco, Umatilla and Union counties.

At the foot of the Blue Mountains we were told that we could not cross in a buggy, as the snow was deep and no vehicle had crossed yet on wheels, but we concluded to try it. We started up on the morning of the 22d We soon came to the snow, which continued for twenty miles at a depth of from two to twenty feet, but as there was a strong crust on it we creeped with little trouble

There was some uneasiness expressed in regard to trouble with Umatilla Indians. But I took notice that these fears prevailed more at a distance than near the reservation.

Near the foot of the mountains on the east side, we passed a company of Uncle Sam's boys on their way from Vancouver to Camp Harney.

A short distance from the large heap of canvas, blankets and provisions at the camp, I noticed a few nice bundles Among the rest was an eight-gallon keg filled with water I suppose this most likely was where the man with the pumpkin rind on his shoulders had camped. The soldiers were well mounted and equipped, and looking splendidly.

After striking the mountains we had no more good roads Most of the small bridges are washed out, and this road is in bad shape generally. Probably on account of this, the O R & N. Co have concluded to be liberal, for they only charged us $15 toll on their road.

We arrived at Baker City on the 26th There is considerable building, mining and other business going on here. We were three days coming from Baker to this place. Men are complaining of hard times here, the same as everywhere else, but I do not see that they should complain so much, for trade is brisk, the mines are yielding tolerably well and labor is in demand There is no danger of any one starving here if he is willing to work. I think some of your Portland "bummers," who are sitting around the corners whittling goods boxes, and are in debt to their landlord and washwoman, would do well to come up here and go to work They could earn their "salt" any way, and that is more than they do there. Carpenters' wages here are $5 to $6 per day, miners, $4 per day, teamsters get $60 per month and found, farm hands, $40 to $50 per month. Respectfully yours,

J. W LUCKEY.

The Catholic World for April, has an article on "Abuses of Diplomatic Authority" in the foreign missions of the United States It complains that several of our Ministers abroad act as if they were propagandists of the prejudice against Catholicism Mr Low, Minister at Pekin, it says, makes it his mission, in a country full of Sisters of Charity and Catholic missionaries, to act for the protection of Protestant missionaries only, and a rives to convince the Chinese officials that the United States have nothing to do with Catholics, or, as he always styles them, "Romanists"

General Hawley could desire no better endorsement of his honesty and integrity than that given by the people of his district at the recent election in Connecticut he ran ahead of the State ticket fully 1,500 votes The salary steal is not in favor with the voters of the Nutmeg State It is worthy of note, in this connection that not one of the Connecticut congressmen has yet touched his back pay

MASS MEETING.

A mass meeting of the citizens of Portland will be held to day at two o'clock P M., to take into consideration matters relating to the massacre by the Modoc Indians Notice as to the place will be given this forenoon by posters.

FROM SILETZ.—We have been kindly permitted to read a private letter received in this city written a few days ago by a gentleman at the Siletz Reservation, and make the following extract: "The Siletz Agency has been the scene of great activity for the last week, as the former Agent, Gen Palmer, has been turning everything over to the new Agent, Mr. J H Fairchild He is alive to the education and Christianizing of these Indians, and also to learn them to live like the whites, by securing to each family a number of acres of land, so as to encourage them to be more independent and take more interest in a home The new agent means business from the way he has started in, and his employes are all in sympathy with him Gen. Palmer fully and heartily endorses the plans of the new Agent Some 600 Indians congregated here yesterday (5th inst.) to hear the farewell talk of Gen Palmer, and to see the new agent and pow-wow with him. The meeting passed off pleasantly and to the satisfaction of all parties concerned A large quantity of tobacco was distributed, and two beeves slaughtered and a general feast took place among the Indians."

TRUSTEES' MEETING.—A meeting of the Trustees and incorporators of the Multnomah Reform School, was held on Saturday afternoon at Ladd's bank, to take further steps toward the commencement of this important and much needed reformatory and correctional institution The articles of incorporation were presented by the committee and duly accepted. One copy of the articles was ordered to be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, and one in the County Clerk's office. Immediately after the adjournment of the incorporators, a meeting of the fifteen Trustees was held, Henry Failing, Esq., was chosen Chairman, and J. K. Gill, Secretary. A committee was appointed to draft a set of by laws for the permanent organization and government of the institution. This committee consisted of Messrs. W. Lair Hill, R. B. Taylor, Charles Hodge and Henry Failing. The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of the Chairman.

PASSENGERS COMING.—The following is the passenger list per steamship Ajax, which left San Francisco for this port last Saturday. J W Sprague and wife, N Parker, C T Brown, Jos Teal, G H Regan, E O Protzman, R A Ohm, Wm Church, C E Stevens, G E Mitchell, Capt S W Percival and son; N Crosby and wife, Miss Ida Bell, Miss M Sands, John Bell, H T Price, Mrs T Holzerstott, S H Harris, C Trumbull, L Prager, E E Cooper, J D Scharff, A J Cooper, W H Cone, G H Rodgers, wife and niece, Louis Heyseman, J S Wilson and wife, R D Forbes and family, H Breyton, Capt J Harlow, M Apple, H Champion and family, E Payne, G P Terrill, Rev M Judy, Thos Chawman, D O Brownson and family, Mrs L Ash, Mrs Dempsey, J G Davis, J H Avery, M E Webb, A Milwain, Miss M E Sheehan, J C McMartin and Wells, Fargo & Co's messenger.

PLEASING TESTIMONIAL.—Mr. Frederick Bill Hogg, who visited this city last fall with the Northern Pacific Railroad Directors, was recently presented with an elegant testimonial from the members of the Presbyterian Church of San Francisco. Mr. Billings was one of the founders of the Church above named, which was the first of that denomination on this coast. He returned to that city a few days ago, with other officers of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, just in time to observe the twenty fourth anniversary of his arrival in San Francisco. The occasion was selected as an appropriate one on which to present him with a fitting testimonial of the friendship he has evinced in canceling the debt of the church. The testimonial consisted of an elegant centerpiece, inscribed with the names of the persons who assisted in the organization of the society.

THE WAY TO SAVE MONEY AND HEALTH.—The hot weather of summer is a severe trial to the wives and mothers who have a family to sew for There is no excuse for any, however poor, to remain long without a sewing machine, when the Improved Home Shuttle can be bought for $45. In every respect a first class machine, but being made by a company not in the great "Ring," and the agent receiving them direct from the manufacturers, they can be afforded less than any other. They have been in use in this city over three years and give excellent satisfaction, as many of our readers can testify. Mr. Traver at the Odd Fellows' Temple, has just received a new supply, which are furnished with all the late improvements, and sold $20 less than the high priced complicated machines.

MISS BOND.—Capt. Paul Corno, formerly of the schooner Miss Bond, is now in this city. He came up on the schooner Ocean Pearl, bringing along a large quantity of ropes, screws, bolts, spikes and oakum, which will be used in repairing the little schooner Miss Bond, which now lies beached on the coast near Tillamook Head The little schooner Kittie Heron, now due from Tillamook, will carry away these necessary materials. The latest reports from the Bond state that she lies high and dry on the beach, and has sustained no very serious damage. She will be recaulked and thoroughly braced throughout.

The editor of the Pantagraph who has been visiting in Cole's valley, Douglas county, says "This is one of the pleasantest, and at the same time the liveliest portion of Douglas county. The farmers are sowing more than the usual amount of grain, and at a low estimate, 60,000 bushels of grain will be raised here this summer. The farmers are all comfortably, and many of them elegantly surrounded and seem to be determined to enjoy life. The Cole's valley school under the direction of Prof. Ferguson, ranks among the first in the county.

The Eugene Journal's Washington correspondent says: "Joe Teal returned from New York and was at Willard's a day or two ago. Mr. Merrill, of Albany, Linn county, is here on a brief visit. He will go West in a day or two and expects to return to Oregon in about a month. Senator Mitchell expects to start for home in about two weeks. Senator Kelly thinks of going home some time during the spring, and Judge Wilson intends to go about the first of July. Mr. Dowell expects to go soon."

COURTS.—The following Courts will begin terms this (Monday) morning The District Court at Vancouver, Judge Green, presiding, the Circuit Court in Yamhill county, Judge Boalham, the Circuit Court in Benton county, Judge Prim in place of Judge Thayer, who is sick, and the Circuit Court in Columbia county, Judge Upton These several Courts, meeting at the same time, will draw a good deal of the legal talent from Portland for several days to come.

SCHOOL MEETING.—This evening the annual school meeting will be held at the new Central School House. The object of the meeting will be to receive the reports of the Directors and Clerk for the fiscal year, and also the report of the Judges of the election. A tax for the support of the public schools for the coming year will doubtless be levied. A full attendance of the tax pay ers is desirable.

HOUR ADJOURNED.—All the chancery business on the docket was disposed of by Judge Upton on last Saturday, and the Circuit Court stands adjourned until the 23d of next month, when a special term will be held.

The County Court also concluded the business before it—both in law and probate—on Saturday and will not meet until next month.

A HAPPY HOME.—A physician's wife recently remarked to us, "We have had a happy home this winter" Explaining herself more fully, we learned that she had purchased for her daughter one of Hallet, Davis & Co 's pianofortes from W K Badger, and that its presence and sound had added new charms to a home already attractive.

FIRST SHIPMENT.—A few days ago the steamer Dean Thompson took from several of the fisheries down the river 1,000 cases of salmon for Astoria, which were placed on board the Orizimmo These are all this spring's catch, and are the first shipment made of the present run

John Ganter, Esq and William Crawford, Esq of Albany, are in this city enroute for Europe, whither they go on a visit to their old homes. They expect to "do" the Vienna Exposition before returning. A pleasant voyage to them.

AT HALF MAST.—Flags are being displayed at half mast from every available staff in the city, and on all the shipping, in respect to the memory of the late Gen E R S Canby, who so recently fell a victim to the perfidy of Captain Jack.

DISCHARGING BALLAST.—The barkentine Hustler is now discharging her ballast at Astoria, preparatory to loading with lumber for South America She will load probably at Comontville.

STRETCHED.—The wire cable at the Stark street ferry, which was broken over a month ago by drift wood, has been stretched, and the boat is again making regular trips by "the rope"

A MAN KILLED.

Early yesterday morning Coroner Dryer was officially notified that a man was accidentally killed on Saturday afternoon on the farm of Mr Rosenthal, about five miles north east of East Portland He at once started for the locality, accompanied by an undertaker On arriving at the spot, and making an examination of the premises, he came to the conclusion that no inquest was necessary over the remains of the unfortunate man The circumstances of the man's death are as follows His name was Harry Donnelly, and he had been in the employ of Rosenthal for some months as a common laborer. Last Saturday morning Donnelly left the house and repaired to some timber several hundred yards distance to chop wood Nothing more was thought of him until late in the evening. Darkness came on and Donnelly did not make his appearance. Supper was kept waiting some time, but as he still was absent, Mrs Rosenthal sent two of her little sons down to the woods to ascertain what was the cause of Donnelly's absence. The boys went out as directed, but returned shortly with the intelligence that Donnelly could not be found Soon after, Mr. Rosenthal came home, and taking with him a lantern proceeded to institute a thorough search for the missing man. After looking about for some time in the timber and thick under brush, he discovered the dead body of Donnelly. It being too late to take any action in the matter, the remains were removed to the house and the Coroner notified of the facts the following morning From an inspection of the premises, it was evident that Donnelly had met his death by a falling tree. He had just finished chopping down a small sized tree which, in its descent, fell across the trunk of a leaning one. The falling tree, on coming in contact with the leaning trunk, slid down towards the earth. This caused the butt to be suddenly thrown to one side, which dealt Donnelly a terrible blow on the breast, evidently killing him in a few moments. His breast and side was mashed almost to a jelly. From appearances, he had realized his danger and was using his utmost endeavors to make his escape when struck. After receiving the blow, he had managed to crawl away several rods before dying.

Donnelly was aged 30 years He was by birth an Irishman, unmarried, and so far as known, had no relatives in the State. He fought through the late civil war, was in a number of engagements and received several wounds. Deceased was a steady, peaceable and industrious man. The remains were interred yesterday.

The Board of Commissioners of the Southern Oregon Wagon Road met on the 2d, and organized by electing Silas J. Day, Chairman, and E. C. Mason, Superintendent. The Commissioners expect to commence the survey from Ashland to Linkville about the 1st of May. J. S. Howard, of Jacksonville, has been selected by the Superintendent as surveyor of said road. They intend to have the road surveyed and ready to let contracts, from Ashland to Roseburg, by the first of June.

The Roseburg Plaindealer says: We examined yesterday some excellent lime, which was burnt from rock taken from the quarry belonging to Plinn Cooper and Asher Marks. In color and quality it is certainly a prime article, being remarkably free of core. In whiteness it equals the Santa Cruz lime. The quarry is situated about six miles south of this place and is quite accessible to the public road. The owners, Cooper & Marks, have burnt about three tons of the rock for the purpose of testing its quality and are naturally well pleased with the result. The very best proof of its excellence is the lime itself We are glad to learn that there is a large quantity of this superior lime rock in this vicinity, and we see no reason why the lime used in this State should not be supplied from this county.

Never Too Late to Mend.

When the stomach is in a state of chronic rebellion against every kind of food, and the attending physician, with solemn and portentous gravity, declares that such cases of confirmed dyspepsia defy all remedies, do not put faith in his spes disesit. Indigestion of this obstinate character may be incurable by his prescriptions, but it is not therefore an irremovable fixture in the system. The fact is that the great vegetable invigorant and corrective, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is radically curing cases of this seemingly desperate nature every day. Indeed, it is in those malignant phases of dyspepsia which no ordinary medicine can control, that its remedial properties are most wonderfully manifested We say to the long-suffering martyr, whose stomach is a source of perpetual torment to him, that by the persistent and daily use of this glorious tonic, he can not only restore the digestive organs to their full vigor, but can keep them in good working order through life If there is constipation, the gentle aperient operation of the Bitters will remove all obstructions, and keep the bowels in a regular and healthy condition The grand characteristic of this vivifying and purifying vegetable preparation is that it acts beneficially upon every organ, controlling the liver, reinforcing the nerves, toning the coats of the stomach, promoting a healthy habit of body, relieving the blood of all impurities, clearing the brain and reviving the spirits

FASHIONABLE NOTES.

Belts of black velvet with silver buckles are the latest.

Round hats made of kid are the latest novelty in ladies attire.

The "Rubagas" bonnets will continue in favor until next spring.

The most fashionable colors in hats seems to be corn color and blue.

Immense crosses of dead gold are worn instead of lockets during Lent

Fans of elephantine dimensions will be carried by our belles this spring.

Silver combs are supplanting the high backed tortoise shells in popular favor.

Red is the fashionable color in hair at present. Golden has gone "out" completely.

The latest style of bouquets have a live canary bird fastened on the top of them among the flowers.

The old fashioned mantilla, short and with long tabs, and trimmed with ruffles or lace, has also reappeared.

The Roman stripes appear in great variety in both ties for the neck and sashes, which will be universally worn.

The bonnet of the period is certainly a coquettish little trifle, almost sure to be becoming, especially to a young and pretty face.

The silver chatelaine-vinaigrettes, modeled after the Greek "amphoræ," are the most tasteful pieces of jewelry we have seen for years.

The ladies are all beginning to part their hair again, and find the old style very dignified and lady-like. The "poodle" style has been banished completely.

Small fichus are made in the same styles to wear over summer dresses, and have long rounded tabs which cross in front and are fastened at the back of the dress.

The Amelia is a broad, pointed collar with deep tabs in front, made of rows of Valenciennes insertion, and bordered all around with a deep frill of the same lace.

Alpacas in the new shades of sage green, pinkish greys, and beautiful tints of blue, will be much worn. They may be trimmed with ruffles and folds of the same material, or of silk of the same shade.

The present week has been an eventful one in the fashionable world, many leading houses having announced their grand openings of the latest spring fashions—the large stores and private modistes have been literally thronged with curiosity seekers and customers.

A new style of rouge has made its appearance. It consists of a tablet of what looks like green tinsel, which when rubbed with a damp cloth gives a red pigment, which seems very natural when transferred to the cheek of metropolitan beauty. It is a Chinese invention.

From present indications the bonnet is retreating from the top of the head to the back of the neck, were it rested fifteen years ago. Formerly the hair was dressed low in the neck, while the hat was placed upon the top of the head and tilted over the forehead, while now a sudden gush of fashionable caprice has sent the bonnet far back, and brought the hair en masse to the front. So fashions change, and what we ridicule to-day we are as eager to em

Nigh Mare

In the gray dawn of the night
As they sighed
My heart
Pressed in dread
And with a shudder became
Always with them
With its awful
Bridal hair
Two savage eyes that shot
And I cried out
Then
Awoke
Into
Fear
And Anguish
Of
Life
At last the night was over
That dark and awful winter
Night
And every village steeple
Rang out the welcome day
But the night clung to me
And the day was like
My heart
That sad and ring less day

Two evil twilights
At length did come
Did loom
Like dark funereal shields
And night descended
Over
Me
Like a pall
Of lead
That I remain

And prayed
For the blessed night
Of sleep
That it might shut out
The day
And its
Awful
Light
And desperately I lay
And in the yellow and weak
The yellow dull speak
Did speak
And sadly did say

The spectre light me
To know what is me
Is done
With the City taken
And I would go back to hell
If yet it fell
Till
With grief the city saves

The Railroad Question

LETTER FROM HON JOSIAH QUINCY

Editor Boston Advertiser —As you state in a recent editorial I advocate the purchase of one line of railroad by the State, for the purpose of reducing by competition the price of freights, even if it should lessen the profits of existing railroads Without alluding to the particular claim now before the Legislature, I wish to consider the question in a broad national point of view There are between Boston and Chicago about seventy millions of watered stock, for which the shareholders never paid a cent but on which they levy a tax of millions on the public in the shape of exorbitant fares I do not believe that this state of things can be permanent and think it the duty of our statesmen to endeavor to find a peaceable remedy My remedy is the owning and control of one or more of the great thoroughfares of the country, either by the State or the United States

The first great objection is the danger that corrupt men will influence our legislators for their own profit Instead of an argument, I will take the case of the Erie canal Here is a thoroughfare built owned and managed by New York By the Constitution of the State it can neither be sold or leased, but must be forever open to the free use of any one who puts a boat upon it and pays the regular toll What has been the corruption resulting from State ownership and management of this great property when compared with what has resulted from the owners and managers of private incorporated railroads? Let the venal legislators of New York answer As a financial operation it has been attended with success, the main Erie having paid for itself many time over Gov Fenton, in one of his messages, states

"The Erie canal has now, and has had since 1860, a tonnage carrying capacity for four millions of tons in each direction east and west, during an ordinary season of navigation of seven and one-half months In arriving at these results, I have assumed that this thoroughfare was, at all times during the season of navigation, in proper order, the locks in good condition, constantly in a working state, and promptly and efficiently attended by an adequate number of men The above estimate is based on continuous work day and night, and employing the whole seven days in the week, according to the custom on that canal Upon the same basis but running through the whole 12 months, the railways would have the following annual freight capacity as compared with the Erie canal, viz

"Erie canal, one and a half miles per hour, tonnage 4,000,000 tons each way, total tonnage capacity, 8 000 000

"Railway, eight miles per hour, and two miles space between the trains 7 008 000 tons each way, total tonnage capacity, 14 016 000

"Railway, ten miles per hour space, two miles between trains 8 760 000 tons each way, tonnage capacity, 17,520 000

"Railway ten miles per hour space, one mile between trains, 17,520 000 tons each way total tonnage capacity 35 040 000

"Railway, eight miles per hour space, one mile between trains, 14 016 000 tons each way, total tonnage capacity, 28,032,000

"Railway, eight miles per hour, space, half mile between trains, 28 032 000 tons each way total tonnage capacity, 56,064,000

"Railway, ten miles per hour, space, half mile between trains, 35 040 000 each way, total tonnage capacity, 70,080,000

"It is not difficult to perceive that on a rate of eight miles per hour, the speed at which lateral friction nearly ceases, a freight capacity four times that of the Erie Canal can be achieved with entire success It only remains to take care of the economic arrangements in combination to accomplish the reduction of freights in an inverse ratio, somewhat corresponding to the increased capacity of the road"

So much for the comparative cheapness and facility of transportation by railways and canals. My own opinion is that ultimately, the United States, acting under the same authority by which they constructed the Cumberland road, will own the road bed and the stations of freight roads on all the great lines, and, like the Erie Canal, throw them open, under regulations as regards regular and moderate speed, to any person who wishes to put either cars or locomotives upon them paying as on canals, regular and fixed tolls for their use With a double track there would be, on such roads, under such regulations, (supplemented as they would be by the telegraph) no danger of collisions, and as the cars would not have to go upon sidings to wait for express trains, their speed would be about as great and the hour of their removal more certain than at present, and there would be an end of complaints, of shortages or excessive tariffs, as individuals, and not corporations, would be responsible

This is a subject of vital importance to the people in every section of this country and the people in my opinion, will never consent permanently to pay dividends on millions of watered stock, when they can by paying interest on the actual cost of a road bed have the reduction of freights that must result from competition, and from the free use of the facilities it affords JOSIAH QUINCY

A BIBLIOGRAPHICAL RELIC CURIOSITY —The Boston Globe says

A Bibliographical curiosity has been discovered in Palestine by Mr Chas Clermont Ganneau, the druggman of our consulate at Jerusalem It was long proclamation written in the year 896 B C —that is about eighty years after Solomon's death by Mesha King of Moab and contemporary of Ahab and Josaphat It is engraved on a massive block of basalt about three feet high two wide and one thick rounded at the top in the supposed shape of the table of the Decalogue Mesha tells his combats against the King of Israel his hope, enumerating his battles, sieges and works the whole forming thirty four lines engraved in very small characters and written in the language of the Old Testament It is the oldest specimen known of the alphabetical writing, and almost a prototype of our present character twenty two Phœnician letters having been adopted by the Greeks almost without alteration for the ancients had then advantage over us that they knew of the unity of alphabetic weights and measures which we try to establish now The text is very clear all the words being separated by periods, and the sentences set in verses by vertical lines This stele was found at three days ride from Jerusalem beyond the Dead Sea and the Jordan among ruins called Dhiban by the Arabs but which are those of the old Montuite city of Dibon mentioned by Isaiah and Jeremiah The discovery of this stele is, says Mr Renan, the most important ever made in the field of Eastern epigraphy

An Augusta (Ga) letter of March 20th has this

Joseph E Curry a son of Elijah Curry of the new Jerusalem in Western Appling County Georgia died today in the lunatic asylum and frustration before Emily Judge Gibson Curry came from Massachusetts with a colony of about two hundred men women and children and settled in the county They lived in tents and held the property in common Curry called himself Elijah and the prophet of Jehovah —supreme in things spiritual and temporal The colony went on well for a brief period but the prophet took to himself too many wives Jealousy and misunderstanding ensued in the colony in many of the colonists returned to Massachusetts being provided with free passage to the nearest seaport either Charleston or Savannah Finally the colony became so demoralized and Curry so locations that the Grand Jury indicted him and his Queen for murder

Curry robed in white linen with head and foot bare in imitation of the Savior appeared before the Court His Queen appeared in the same attire with white cockings on her feet and a white bow on her head

Speaking in his wonderful mesmeric influence that men and women could live together as man and wife without cohabiting, and that by mortification and prayer they could become perfect He repelled the charge of insanity and displayed much erudition and familiarity with the Scriptures He said he had revelations after revelations that a new era had dawned when men and women should come out of the natural order of things to a higher state of purity

After speeches from the prosecution and defence the jury retired and after half an hour's absence returned with a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy Sentence has been deferred for a few weeks It is thought that the prophet and his followers will be given an opportunity to find another Canaan far away from here in which to pitch their tents

ON A VULGAR LITTLE BOY —My acquaintance with him began in a moment of weakness I have an unfortunate predilection to cultivate original ity in people even when accompanied by objectionable character But, as I lack the firmness and skillfulness which usually accompany this taste in others and enable them to drop acquaintances when troublesome I have surrounded myself with divers unprofitable friends among whom I count the vulgar little boy The manner in which he first attracted my attention was purely accidental He was playing in the street, and the driver of a passing vehicle cut at him spitefully with his whip The vulgar little boy rose to his feet and hurled after his tormentor a single sentence of invective I refrain from repeating it, for I feel that I could not do justice to it here If I remember rightly, it conveyed in a very few words a reflection on the legitimacy of the driver's birth it hinted a suspicion of his father's integrity and impugned the fair fame of his mother it suggested incompetency in his present position pore and uncleanliness and evin of a skeptical doubt of his future salvation As his youthful lips closed over the last syllable the eyes of the vulgar little boy met mine Something in my look emboldened him to wink I did not repel the action nor the complicity it implied From that moment I fell into the power of the vulgar little boy, and he has never left me since

He haunts me in the streets and by ways He accosts me when in the company of friends, with repulsive freedom He lingers about the gate of my dwelling to pay me as I issue forth to business Distance he overcomes by main strength of lungs, and he hails me from the next street He met me at the theater the other evening, and demanded my check with the air of a young footpad I foolishly gave it to him, but re entering some time after, and comfortably seating myself in the parquet, I was electrified by hearing my name called from the gallery with the addition of a playful adjective It was the vulgar little boy During the performance he projected spirally twisted play bills in my direction, and indulged in a running commentary on the supernatural characters as they entered —Bret Harte

THE INCREASE OF SALARY LAW —The Cincinnati Enquirer declares that if the increase of salary law is to be repealed—and it should be repealed—let it be in all its provisions or none It could not have been passed except as an entirety "We can get good Presidents for $25 000 a year, says the Enquirer, "and Congressmen for $5 000 We have no doubt that some men could be found patriotic enough to take the Presidency for nothing and give a good bonus for the job in the bargain Take some of our railroad monarchs, for example They could hitch the Presidency to some of their gigantic monopolizing schemes, like a tender to a locomotive, and let the country go whizzing and crashing along until something bursts, as is like to be the case anyhow if the bribery and corruption so long prevailing in high places be continued many years longer The act or the interpolations of an act, increasing the salary of members of the last Congress was unrighteous and ought to be repealed

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times says

Certain journals, which lay claim to being newspapers, have just found a statement, printed three months ago, containing a statement of the disbursements on account of the Contingent Fund of the House and Senate, and are making wonderful disclosures as to the cost of keeping 200 or 300 members at the capitol in baths with soap and convenances therefor, of the ingredients of lemonade and iced tea during the hot summer days, of the toilet articles furnished committee rooms, of the various articles usually considered indispensable by cleanly gentlemen not connected with nuclearly occupations A similar document is printed every year, and has been, from time immemorial, and the same astounding disclosures might have been made some years ago under Democratic administrations, only the material for scandal had not then become so scarce

A Washington dispatch of April 7th says

Senator Mitchell of Oregon to day argued the case of the Oregon Central Railroad before the Secretary of the Interior The Department declines to withdraw from entry any lands to be located by the road except on the most direct and feasible route by which it can make a junction with the California and Oregon road as required by law The Central road wants to deflect the route to Klamath Lake and then back to make the junction The Secretary considers this in violation of the law giving the land grant

In the breach of promise case tried at Springfield, Mass, recently, the District Attorney protested against regarding the betrothal of minors as a 'boy and girl affair,' and said that he was engaged to his present wife when he was only sixteen, that their happy courtship of nine years was the brightest spot in his life, and that now after twenty years of happy married life, he kisses his wife's lips although she is somewhat faded with the same fervor as in the early days of their youthful courtship Thereupon $1,000 damages were awarded the plaintiff

John Clarke gave, in all to the Clarke Institute at Northampton Mass $300,706 49 He might have added another penny, but he didn't
